

The New Jersey Pain Care Collaborative

Sponsored by a grant from The Nicholson Foundation and administered by the Weitzman Institute, the New Jersey Pain Care Collaborative addresses the prescription opioid crisis in New Jersey. The Collaborative utilizes the Project ECHO model of hub-and-spoke knowledge-sharing networks, led by expert teams who use multi-point videoconferencing to conduct virtual mentoring with community providers. One network is focused on pain care and the other on buprenorphine treatment.

This infographic presents each county's drug-related deaths per 100,000 population. The darker the shading, the higher the population-adjusted rate of drug-related deaths.

The primary care practices participating in the Collaborative are also indicated on the map. The Collaborative sites are spread throughout New Jersey, and many are targeted at the "hotspots" of greatest need.

Data Source:

The data for this map were compiled from the United States Census Bureau's 2014 American Community Survey, and 2014 drug-related deaths data from the New Jersey Office of the State Medical Examiner. The Office included the following drugs in its data: heroin, morphine, methadone, fentanyl, oxycodone, and cocaine.
